this makes about as much sense as your local weather man telling you not to watch the weather channel or nbc getting pissed because people are watching the Sopranos as opposed to the west wing. What ever happened to the consumer making a choice. If the N.A.B is so worried for their jobs they should improve their product.